Who is Ability First Australia?

Our founding member organisations share a common history, initially established as Crippled Children's Societies. Australia wide, the members provide vital support to 40,000 children and adults with disabilities and their families at an annual cost of over $150 million.

Our values (what matters to us):

- Deliver on a promise
- Make a difference
- Never give up

Member services include:

- Individual and family support services
- Respite and accommodation services
- Assistive technology and equipment solutions
- Community participation
- Early childhood support services
- Therapy services and medical rehabilitation
- Job training and employment services
- Leisure access and recreational services

Ability First Australia has a combined member workforce of 3,000 employees and in any one year, more than 3,000 Australians volunteer their time and expertise to assist member organisations achieve their goals.

Ability First Australia, strives to ensure that every Australian child and adult with a disability, and their families, will have access to programs that maximise their potential and improve their quality of life.

Our Founding Member Organisations:

Your organisation has committed to support Ability First Australia and its members to deliver high quality programs for Australians living with a disability.

How will Australians living with disabilities benefit from my contribution?

Ability First Australia and our founding member organisations work together to raise awareness and address the needs and complex issues faced by Australians living with disabilities everyday.

The donations raised from Ability First Australia's Employee Giving Program will support the services and programs designed to assist children, adults and their families in the community where you live and work.

Your donation is directed to the leading disability service organisation (our founding members) in your state/territory in support of projects and initiatives that provide critical and often life changing outcomes in education, therapy, individual and family support, independent living, community participation, respite, accommodation and employment.

Workplace giving offers a long term and sustainable form of funding for vital core programs that do not receive the necessary funding to meet demand or for future service development.

What does the Employee Giving Program offer to me or my employer?

Ability First Australia is a registered deductible gift recipient which means your donation is deducted from your gross salary thereby reducing your taxable income – refer www.abr.business.gov.au

Workplace giving offers an efficient and tax-effective way of donating by receiving your tax deduction at the time the donation is made and recorded by your employer in your payment summary

Opportunity for Individual or corporate volunteering or pro bono work -to express your interest please contact glenn.gardner@abilityfirstaustralia.org.au

Workplace giving is a great opportunity to support the values of the individual and your employer

Increase your understanding of the issues faced by a significant number of Australians living with a disability in your community

If 100 employees donated $5 each week then your organisation would raise $26,000 each year

REMEMBER: If you donate $5 per week before tax then you are only paying $3 per week (assuming a marginal tax rate of 23.4%)
